NANA

We will always miss your kitchen, ready with snacks for us four, and your beautiful little smile telling us what you had planned for lunch.

You always made tuna mayo sandwiches for Joseph's lunch, cheese and pickle for Olivia and veggie hotdog and cheese rolls for Paddy and Hamish.

We loved your amazing scotch pancakes with squirty cream and golden syrup between each layer.

We remember our days out to Adventure Kids and Kent Life, and down to the park to play football while you did your crossword.

Every time we saw you, we would watch Popeye, Pokémon, Boxtrolls and The Hobbit together, making you switch off Coronation Street or Emmerdale so we would be happy.

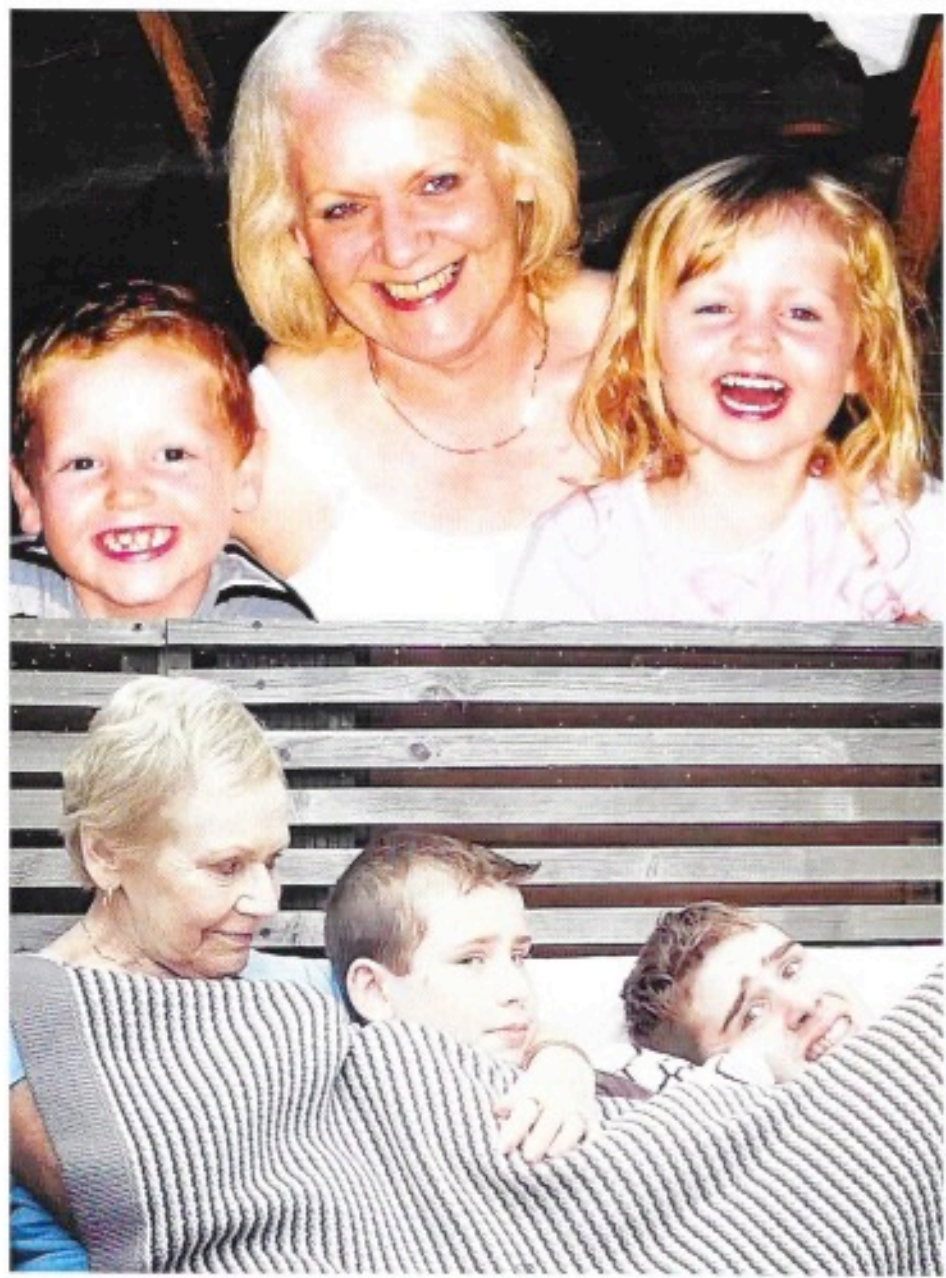

You loved your knitting and sewing, and we remember your mannequin next to the sweets, and your little box of pens and needles on your coffee table.

We will miss sitting at your little yellow table with orange and blue chairs, and then your wooden tables when we grew up to be your "lovely girl" and your "big boys".

We loved playing Jungle Ludo with you for hours on end.

We will love you forever.
